

GALEN KELLY

1
5 MS. KELLY: I'd just like it to go on record
6 that I'd like the meetings to go back the way they were,
7 where we were able to reach the whole public and not just 8 the choir so that we can reach out to our community, and I
9 feel like this is a suppressive tactic even if it wasn't 10 intentional.

11 On the first introductory panel that declares
12 your mission, one of them is to "maintain, train and equip
13 combat-ready military forces capable of winning wars." I 14 just said to myself, wow, imagine if you went up to the 15 pearly gates and they said, "Well, what was your mission in 16 life?" and you said, you know, "I'm capable of winning 17 wars." I wonder how that would go over with the Creator.
18 And I looked at that word, military forces. Two syllables
19 in forces. What's the first syllable? That's got to tell
20 us something. Force.

21 In regards to the environmental studies, most of 22 these studies have kind of failed the people. You know, we 23 may be thrown a crumb once in a while where they'll save a 24 bird or a patch of habitat, but for the most part our 25 wishes are overridden while military toxins continue,
1 everything from heavy metals to depleted uranium and to 2 unexploded ordnances.

3 So even though we're here for an environmental 4 study, I can't detach that from the bigger mission, which I
5 see as empire-expanding. And by empire, you know, okay, 6 U.S., NATO, Israel kind of joining forces to dominate the 7 rest of the world one country at a time, Iraq, Afghanistan, 8 Egypt, Libya, Pakistan, Syria, with the intention of 9 circling of course some nations that still show some 10 independence like Russia and China, all moving towards the 11 ideal of globalization, which steals every country's 12 sovereignty. And we will be then led by leaders in the 13 U.N. half a world away, whom we have not elected, and have 14 less of a voice and less local authority to decide how our 15 lives are led.

16 And now going into Mother Africa, and we know 17 that it's about resource grab, about owning the oil and 18 owning the water and owning the ports and the poppies, the 19 heroin poppies and the opium poppies and every other 20 resource out there.

21 And so when I talked to everyone here, everybody
22 was passing the buck including you, sir. You said, "We do 23 not make the decisions," but you do serve those who make 24 the decisions.

25 And I guess the last part of what I want to say
1 is outreach to those of you who are holding up the military 2 killing machine because I see it as such. You choose to 3 settle conflicts by taking lives, and that's a very 4 primitive way to advance civilization. Please think about 5 our words tonight. We're reaching out to you. We'll be 6 here for you if you decide on a different course in life.
7 It's not too late.
